

CV Dania Achermann (Sept. 2020)

- Since Sept. 2019 SNSF-Ambizione Fellow at the University of Bern (Switzerland),
Department of History & Oeschger Centre for Climate Change Research
- Since Oct. 2018 Assistant Professor for History of Science and Technology, University of Wuppertal (Germany)
- WS 2017/2018 Interim Professor for History of Technology and Environmental History, University of Wuppertal
- 2017/2018 Guest Researcher at the Centre of Excellence “Integrated Climate System
Analysis and Prediction (CliSAP)”, research group “Understanding Science in Interaction”, University of Hamburg (9 months)
- 2014-2017 Postdoc at the Research Project “Shaping Cultures of Prediction: Knowledge, Authority and the Construction of Climate Change”, Centre for Science Studies, Aarhus University (Denmark)
- 2014 PhD in History of Science and Technology/Science Studies, international dual degree at Ludwig-Maximilians-University Munich (Germany) and Aarhus University (Denmark)
- 2010-2014 Doctoral candidate at the PhD Programme “Environment and Society”, Rachel Carson Center, Ludwig-Maximilians-University Munich and the German Aerospace Center (DLR, Institute for Atmospheric Physics).
Fellow of the Graduate School for Science and Technology, Aarhus
University (Denmark)
- 2010 MA in General History and Geography, University of Zurich (Switzerland)